CUAJ is looking for a new Associate Editor

CUAJ is looking to fill one of its Associate Editor (AE) positions. The newly appointed AE would begin in July 2021 for a four-year term, with the possibility for renewal of only one further term.

The AE tasks include but are not limited to:

- Soliciting the highest-quality work on the journal's behalf;
- Recommending potential manuscript topics and authors;
- Involvement in the peer-review process (through peer-review, overseeing editorial decisions, and assisting the editorial office in ensuring the robustness of the reviewer database);
- Strategic planning for the journal;
- Attending any Editorial Board meetings.

Applicants should have a strong scholarly track record, extensive review and editorial experience, and exceptional verbal and written communication skills.

Interested parties can submit a CV and a brief letter outlining their qualifications, attributes, and thoughts on the role directly to the CUAJ Managing Editor at adriana.modica@cua.org.

The application deadline is May 3, 2021.
